01 Purpose

LEFTURN Inc. has served international clients from Toronto, Ontario, Canada since 2018. This policy explains the eligibility checks that apply before and during any service, so you can confirm you are eligible before buying a challenge, a LEFTURN service or tokens.

02 Basic eligibility

- You are at least 18 and the age of majority where you live.
- The trading accounts you connect are held in your own name.
- Using LEFTURN's services is lawful where you live and where you trade.

- Your prop firm or broker accepts clients from your country and permits the service you choose.

03 Sanctions

LEFTURN complies with Canadian sanctions laws, including the Special Economic Measures Act, the Justice for Victims of Corrupt Foreign Officials Act (Sergei Magnitsky Law), the United Nations Act, and the terrorist listings under the Criminal Code, as well as other sanctions that apply to our providers and payment partners.

- We do not knowingly provide services to, or accept payments from or for, any person or entity named on an applicable sanctions list, or anyone acting on their behalf.
- We do not take part in transactions those laws prohibit.
- Being a resident of a country named in a sanctions program does not always mean a complete ban, but some countries and regions are subject to broad restrictions. We assess each case under the measures in force at the time.

04 Screening

Screening considers the client, the account holder, payment senders and recipients, location and the services involved. It may use the name, country, city and payment details you give us. LEFTURN does not perform routine identity verification and does not ask for government ID as part of routine onboarding. If the law ever requires us to verify identity, we will pause the affected service until a compliant procedure is in place and explained.

05 Country and provider restrictions

Besides sanctions, a service may be unavailable because of local law, payment restrictions, our internal risk policy, or because a prop firm or broker does not accept clients from your country or restricts third-party trading or copying. Prop firm and broker rules change; check them directly with the provider before you buy.

06 What happens if you are not eligible

We may decline an order, pause or end a service, or refuse a payment where eligibility cannot be confirmed or a restriction applies. Where the law allows, we will tell you why. Payments that cannot lawfully be processed are handled under our Refund Policy and the law that applies.

07 Your obligations

Give accurate information about where you live and who holds the account, tell us promptly if this changes, and do not use VPNs or other people's accounts to get around restrictions. Providing false information is a breach of our Terms of Service.

08 Confirm before you pay

Before buying a challenge or any service, you can ask us to confirm your eligibility in writing. Send your country and city, your prop firm or broker, the platform and the service you are interested in to support@manage.forex, or check your prop firm with our free Prop Screener at manage.forex.

09 Updates

Sanctions and country restrictions change often. We review this policy and our screening against official Canadian sanctions guidance regularly and update it as needed.
