01 High risk of loss

Trading foreign exchange, contracts for difference (CFDs), indices, commodities, equities, futures, cryptocurrencies and other leveraged products involves significant risk and is not suitable for everyone. Prices can move quickly and against you. Leverage magnifies both gains and losses, so a small price movement can produce a large loss.

On a personal brokerage account you can lose some or all of the money you deposited, and depending on the product and your broker's protections, potentially more. Do not trade, or buy a service, with money you cannot afford to lose.

02 Prop firm challenges and funded accounts

Prop firm accounts are usually simulated, but the money you pay for them is real. A challenge fee paid to a prop firm and a service fee paid to LEFTURN can both be lost even though the trading account itself is simulated.

- Breaking a daily loss limit, maximum drawdown or any other firm rule can end the account immediately.
- Passing a challenge does not guarantee funding. The prop firm controls approval, identity checks, account issuance, restrictions and payout eligibility.
- Prop firms can change their rules, deny payouts, restrict strategies such as copy trading, automation or news trading, or stop operating.
- Some firms prohibit third-party trading or account management. You are responsible for checking your firm's written rules before you buy a challenge or use a service.

03 Copy trading and the Marketplace

When you copy a Marketplace trader, the trader's decisions are placed on your account under the settings you choose. Your results can differ from the trader's because of account size, lot sizing, spreads, commissions, timing, your own settings, broker differences and orders that fill at a different price or not at all.

Your choice of traders, instruments, sessions and risk settings can materially change your results. A trader's record, badge, ranking or published trade plan is not a promise of future performance. Several traders or strategies can lose at the same time, especially when they trade related markets.

04 Automation, software and AI

LEFTURN services rely on software: MetaTrader 5, Expert Advisors, the LEFTURN Copier, webhooks, servers and internet connections. Any of these can fail, disconnect, run late or behave unexpectedly.

- If your Windows VPS, trading platform or Expert Advisor is switched off or disconnected, trades may be missed, not closed, or not managed.
- Stop losses and pending orders can fill at a different price from the one set, particularly during news, gaps or low liquidity.
- AI-assisted analysis and AI-written trade plan text can be inaccurate or incomplete.
- Execution can differ between accounts that copy the same trade.

05 Market conditions

Spreads can widen sharply around economic releases, central bank decisions, the daily market close and weekends. Markets can gap, leaving no opportunity to exit at the planned price. LEFTURN may pause or reduce trading in these conditions to manage risk; a period without trades is not a failure to deliver the service.

06 Performance figures and examples

Past performance does not indicate future results. Charts, dashboards, payout amounts and trade plans shown on our website, in the Academy and in marketing are illustrations unless clearly stated otherwise and supported by verifiable records. Simulated, backtested and live results are different things and must not be treated as the same.

07 No guarantees

LEFTURN does not guarantee any monthly return, maximum drawdown, completion date, challenge pass, funded account, payout amount or profit. Risk management reduces risk; it cannot remove it. Retry cover on the Standard service is a service fee waiver under stated conditions, not a guarantee of a pass.

08 Not investment advice

Information from LEFTURN, including Academy articles, the Complete LEFTURN Guide, trade plans, trader records, market tools and chat answers, is general information. It is not individual investment, legal or tax advice and does not take your circumstances into account. LEFTURN is not a broker, prop firm, bank or custodian, and incorporation is not a securities or investment management licence. Consider independent professional advice before trading.

09 Your responsibility

By using LEFTURN you confirm that you understand these risks, that you have read your prop firm's or broker's rules, and that the decision to buy a challenge, a service or tokens, and to trade, is yours. The Master Service Agreement sets out the full terms, including clauses 24 and 25 on trading risk and interruptions.
